Submit Data

Please note that we process all of our data by hand. Your update may take several days to appear online. If you are concerned about extended delays in your updated data appearing online, please use the contact form, choosing the appropriate option for delayed data. Please do not submit the data again!

How to submit updates

Need help navigating our data submission forms? You might find our video tutorials helpful.

- To submit information about a mathematician not in our database, use the new data form. (Please search the database first to confirm the individual is not listed.) Video tutorial
- To add a student of a mathematician who is already in our database, use the new data form. Video tutorial
- To add or correct information on an individual already in our database, search for that mathematician's page and use the update link at the bottom of the page. Video tutorial
- To add or correct the MathSciNet link for an individual already in our database, watch this video tutorial and then search for that mathematician's page and use the update link at the bottom of the page.
